Local Charges for “Extras”

1. The fees shown in this table do not include charges for heating, the services of a vergers, music (e.g. organist, choir, buying sheet or recorded music), bells and flowers, which are fixed by the Parochial Church Council or the service provider (e.g. musicians or flower arrangers). The person officiating should discuss the statutory fees (and all others, see 4 below) with the family or those concerned and ensure that the person or persons paying the fees understand what they will be. PCCs may ask that all fees are paid in advance, although in the case of the statutory fees this is voluntary and the person paying may decline to pay statutory fees.
2. In the case of a marriage service or a funeral service in church any costs and expenses incurred in respect of routine administration (including arranging dates and times and the making of entries in registers), the cost of the Parish Clerk, making the church available, cleaning and lighting it are included in the fee prescribed as payable to the Parochial Church Council. For mileage costs: for weddings, the minister claims against the PCC, and this is included in the PCC fee – the couple pay no extra; for funerals the minister should claim the actual mileage from the Funeral Director direct.
3. PCCs must spell out what a charge is for, this charge must be reasonable and specific to a service or “extra” delivered and may not include a general charge e.g. a “Facility Fee”.
4. A Table of Local Charges should be produced and displayed alongside this Table of Fees. It is important that ministers and Parish Clerks ensure that the families understand and agree to pay these charges before the service concerned if they want the “extras” concerned. A PCC may resolve that the local charges are to be paid for in advance of the wedding and may decline to provide the extras if the agreed local charges have not been paid for at the time of the service.
5. Reference may be made to the Guide to the Parochial Fees of the Church of England p. 8f. on “Extras” which can be found online. N.B. this Guide is based on English law and English fees which are different (and higher) but the general principles on “Extras” apply.
